Technology (notably social media) has changed the how, when, and where local government news is reported, and has changed what local governments must do to prepare, react, and respond when a notable incident occurs in their area. It's not a question of if an incident will occur, but when, how often, and whether local officials will be prepared to respond. There may be no other training session offered by FCCMA that universally applies to local government managers than this session. Orlando city officials will walk attendees through their experiences with the Pulse Nightclub tragedy and summarize lessons learned. This will be an excellent opportunity for attendees to learn from Orlando's experience and to ask questions and discuss the applicability of those lessons to their own jurisdictions.

SPEAKERS

Byron W. Brooks, AICP, Chief Administrative Officer, City of Orlando

Captain Mark Canty, SWAT Commander, Orlando Police Department

Michele Brennan, Communications and Neighborhood Relations Director, City of Orlando

The cost for the training is $74 per person and $40 for students if you pay by check. Those who register and pay online will receive $25 off the registration fee ($49 per person/$15 per student). Lunch is included. The deadline for registration is Monday, April 3rd. No refunds will be given after the deadline.

If paying by check, complete the registration form and mail to: FCCMA, P.O. Box 1757, Tallahassee, FL 32302.
