Thank you from the Executive Director Lynn Tipton

THANK YOU to all conference committee members, host committee members, board of directors, volunteers and panelists/presenters for a wonderful annual conference! There is something special and different about FCCMA when I compare it to the other associations and their conferences each year: that difference is the genuine friendships, collegiality and concern all of you have for one another and show to one another. It is a joy to work with this association – your staff thanks you for a great half-week with you in Orlando!

Member Profile – Nancy Gonzalez, City Manager of the City of Belleair Beach (Pinellas County)

By Peter Cavalli, Community Services/IT Director, City of Belleair Beach

You've been working in the local government arena for several years now. What got you interested in public service?

- Started out as a receptionist in Indian Shores.
- Been working for municipal governments for 20 years and have worked for numerous departments such as finance, building, administration, etc..

What has been your most memorable experience(s) while service as a City Manager?

- Learning the intricacies of overseeing two grant projects (tennis courts and Morgan Street Park)
- The new community center/city hall construction project.
- Transition from City Police Department to outside County Sheriff,

What challenges and opportunities has the economic downturn brought for the City of Belleair Beach?

- Challenge of doing more with so few employees and still maintaining a high level of service to residents with a smaller budget.

What do you do to relax when you take a break from the job?

- Garden, read and watch old movies.

Other professional organizations do you belong to.

- IIMC and ICMA

FCCMA Member since

- 2007

Favorite part of job

- Interacting with staff, residents, other outside organizations, County, City Managers, State (DEP, DCA, CRS/ISO)

Least favorite part of job

- Not being able to provide our residents with the projects and improvements being requested by residents throughout the City due to budget constraints.

What advice would you give to young professionals entering the city management profession?

- Decide if you want to be a specialist or a generalist. Working for a small city will allow you to work on a varied array of projects whereas working for a larger city will allow you to specialize more.

FCCMA 2010 Annual Conference Report

Saturday, May 15th marked the beginning of the new FCCMA Program Year. President Carl Harness, Public Safety Administrator, Hillsborough County, took the reign from Past President Joseph Gallegos at Friday's Business Meeting. Sylvester Murray, personal friend of Mr. Harness and past president of ICMA, administered the Oath of Office to President Harness. Andrea Arnold, ICMA Southeast Vice President and Assistant City Manager, Decatur, GA, administered the Oath of Office to the rest of the Board of Directors.

By all accounts, the conference was a success! We anticipated low attendance this year with the economy but were very pleased with our numbers. We had 191 registered for this year's conference.

The Planning Committee had a goal of opening strong and closing strong with the keynote speakers. General Honore was outstanding and spoke frankly of how to get things done when they need to be done quickly. He pointed out what would seem to be common sense issues – such as don't put the generators in the basement and gave advice for preparedness. He showed clips from the news that brought back memories of Katrina. His forthright way of speaking was refreshing, humorous and informative. The members were very pleased.

Saturday's closing speaker, Michael Hingson, traveled with Africa, his seeing-eye dog (who wowed the crowd). He spoke passionately of life without sight and how people with sight often don't have 'vision.' He described his surviving being in Tower One of the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001; and how his life has changed since then. Again, the use of humor was delightful.

The handouts for the sessions should be posted to the website in the next couple of weeks. Go to http://www.fccma.org/events/events_conference.asp.

A link to the conference survey will be emailed to all the members this week. Please take time to answer the questions on the survey. This survey is very important in future conference planning.

Join us next year in Clearwater June 1-3 for a joint conference with the Alliance for Innovation. The joint TLF/FCCMA Conference will be different, but a wonderful opportunity for Florida to participate in a national conference.

Strategies for Safe and Sustainable Communities

The Coordinated Community Anti Crime Initiative is holding a symposium on June 4, 2010 from 9:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m. at the Embassy Suites Jacksonville – Baymeadows, 300 Baymeadows Road, Jacksonville, FL 32256. The title is Strategies for Safe and Sustainable Communities. Attorney General Bill McCollum is the keynote speaker and Senator Victor Crist from District 12 is a special guest.

This symposium is for community and economic development service providers, policy-makers, local officials, law enforcement, state officials, social service providers, business owners, faith-based organizations, affordable housing advocates, community stakeholders and non-profit entities.

This symposium will explore and share a pilot program that was designed to empower and organize communities to address those issues which are often precursors to actual criminal activity...unemployment, poor housing conditions, little or no access to social services and the like. This comprehensive program lays the foundation for transforming high crime communities into safe and sustainable neighborhoods.

Pre-registration is required and you will need to register online at <http://symposium.uacdconline.org>. Seating is limited so register early!

Certified Public Technology Leadership Programs

The Florida Institute of Government at Florida State University is offering certification in local government technology leadership. The certification consists of two levels: Certified Public Technology Manager and Certified Chief Information Officer.

Both programs start July 19, 2010 and are open to technology professionals who are employed by a city, county, constitutional office, school district or other local government organization. These programs are also designed to meet the standards of a national certification currently being developed by the Florida Institute of Government and the Public Technology Institute.

For more information about these programs, contact Debby Smallwood at (850) 487-1870 or cptm@iog.fsu.edu.
