Maintaining Positivity in Tough Times

By Lynn Tipton, Executive Director

Without sounding too much like a Hallmark greeting card, I thought I might close out this calendar year with some encouragement to my favorite public servants – the hardworking city, county and local government managers and members of their respective management teams. You don’t need me to tell you it has been a tough year on a number of fronts. State CFO Alex Sink recently was the speaker at my Kiwanis Club meeting, and there weren’t many hopeful statements in her remarks – but I kept trying to find encouragement in her words.

Earlier this year in this column I talked about the tremendous opportunity all of us have to find innovative solutions during the toughest times – and I still believe it. But, if your energies are waning or you’re feeling discouraged, I want to help bank those coals of enthusiasm for the wonderful work all of you are doing.

The best fires are built with a layered foundation that allows for air to draft through, while keeping the heat centralized and burning evenly (this from the daughter of the former administrator of the National Fire Administration – so we learned how to build fires!). I think it is a fitting metaphor for the situation we’re in across the state: we need fresh air to come through and energize our fires, while keeping the foundational layers in place so that the embers stay hot and heat (our services and programs) can properly emerge. That fresh air can be volunteers, your councils or commissions, your employees, the advice of a friend or colleague, maybe a citizen, or an exciting article you’ve found—there are many sources. Sometimes, it isn’t until the end of the day (or as I’m falling asleep) that I realize how many good ideas I’ve come across in a day – and that I’ve often ignored them or set them aside. I recently went through a “wish” file I’ve kept of good ideas over the past five years – and most of them are still good ideas! Now, I’ve got to find a way to put them into action.

The hardest aspect of this for those in our field right now is to not run out of fuel – we may not see more fuel sources for a half-year or longer, and that makes it hard to plan for the future. I hope the members of this association will share their ideas with one another – we are our own best resource! And, if it is time to take a few days off so that you can rekindle your own energy source, I hope you’ll do it! My best wishes to each of you for the holidays and to a year of excellence in 2009.

2009 Winter Institute

Don’t miss this year’s Winter Institute. Well-known author and consultant, Peter Block, is the facilitator whom many of you know from Transforming Local Government Conferences. His latest book entitled: Community: The Structure of Belonging, was released this spring and has been very well received.

If you have not received your registration brochure, please contact Carol Russell at (850) 222-9684 or crussell@flcities.com as soon as possible. The Institute is restricted to 80 managers, assistants or ICMA-credentialed managers; and it is filling up. The deadline for hotel reservations is January 5, 2009.

Update from Legislative Policy Committee

By Vince Long, Deputy County Administrator, Leon County

On behalf of the Legislative Policy Committee, please find the following update. Throughout session, we will provide information on the most up to date happenings at the Legislature and will seek your active assistance through our “calls-to-action” to support FCCMA’s 2009 legislative priorities.

Revenue Estimating Conference Numbers Are In

On Friday, November 21, 2008, the long awaited Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) convened to review the state’s general revenue collections for FY 09 and FY 10. The REC is a collection of economists from different branches and agencies of state government that forecast tax collections, measure the strengths and weaknesses of the economy, and identify the factors attributing to economic performance and trends. The REC provides a budgeting framework for the Legislature as it begins to hold meetings in the winter prior to the spring legislative session.

As expected, the REC provided a bleak overview of the state’s current revenue collections for FY 09 and the anticipated revenues for FY 2010. The estimate of general revenue collections for FY 09 was reduced by another $1.4 billion, or 6.0% below the August estimate. The revenue reductions were attributed to three economic issues:

- The “virtual shut-down of the credit market” constraining the housing market, consumer expenditures, and business investment.
- The “spread of the national recession to a global recession” having spillover effects on tourism and export growth.
- The deterioration of wealth from heightened job losses, the depreciation of home values, and the decline in asset values all affecting discretionary spending.

This is the third year in a row of declining state revenues. The REC also reduced its general revenue estimate for FY 2010 by $2.3 billion but expects some improvement in the state economy toward the end of FY 10. Despite this expected improvement, revenue collections are not anticipated to exceed FY 06 levels within the forecast horizon.

Calls for Special Session

There have been various calls for a special session to address the state’s revenue shortfall for the current fiscal year but the Governor and Speaker of the House have been reluctant issue the call. Due to the budget shortfall, the Legislature is in a similar position to last year. Rather than calling a special session in early 2008 to balance the budget, the Legislature waited until the first week of the regular session to balance the state budget. Legislators officially began the 2008 legislative session by cutting over $500 million in the FY 08 budget that it approved in May 2007.

Legislators do have another short term option. In the FY 09 budget approved in May 2008, $1.4 billion in reserves was set aside for the Governor to tap in case of a budget shortfall. To date, the Governor has sought over $600 million from the reserves to maintain state programs and still has access to $800 million in reserve accounts, which is still $600 million short of the state’s current deficit.

No Community Budget Requests This Year

Each year, local governments submit appropriation requests through the Community Budget Issue Request System (CBIRS) and the respective Local Legislative Delegations. Senate President Atwater and Speaker Sansom issued a memorandum notifying the public that the CBIRS process will not be opened this year due the state’s fiscal challenges.

The closing of the CBIRS process significantly reduces local government’s opportunities for funding in a year that we all already knew would be challenging. While local government lobbyists will no doubt continue to seek funding opportunities for local projects, it is advisable to focus on grant requests through state agency programs.

FAC and FLC Approves Legislative Priorities

The Florida Association of Counties and the Florida League of Cities held their Legislative Conference in November to finalize legislative priorities. The FCCMA legislative committee will coordinate our common legislative issues with FAC and FLC in the coming session.

“Dealing with Change and Employee Morale”

District IV will hold its District Training on January 9, 2009 from 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. at the Lakeside Facility, 10410 N Military Trail in Palm Beach Gardens. The topic will be Dealing with Change and Employee Morale.

The employee morale session will address: strategies for keeping employees engaged and committed, motivation methods for today’s difficult times, no/low cost recognition and reward strategies and management of Generation X and Generation Y employees as well as the other employees in the work place.

The managing in changing times session will address: the numerous changes that confront public employers and will offer practical solutions for dealing with them, the three stages of change, practical methods to deal with employees’ resistance to change and getting employees to become change agents rather than fighting change.

These sessions are designed as a forum for the exchange of ideas and best practices rather than being lecture-oriented. Participants will be able to take away several ideas that can be implemented in their work places.
The workshop facilitator will be Ralph M. Parilla, Jr. who is a south Florida consultant that has conducted training programs, facilitated meetings and made convention and seminar presentations for client organizations in the public and private sectors for 22 years. The guest lunch speaker will be Bob Lee who will introduce the Center for Local Government Excellence and discuss the Center’s current projects.

The cost per participant will be $35 and will include lunch. For more information, contact Sarah Shannon at the John Scott Dailey Florida Institute of Government at Florida Atlantic University at (561) 297-3749 or sshannon@fau.edu.

B. Harold Farmer Scholarship

The B. Harold Farmer Scholarship brochure and application was mailed in November to all affiliate and student members. Several copies were also mailed to each of the universities. In order to qualify, you must be enrolled during the summer or fall of 2009 and pursuing a public administration or related degree at a Florida university. The recipient will receive a $2,500 scholarship and all related costs of attending the conference. Completed applications must be received by 5:00 p.m. on February 13, 2009. If you would like a copy of the brochure, please email Carol Russell at crussel@flcities.com for a copy.

FCCMA Awards

The 2009 FCCMA Annual Conference is rapidly approaching. Awards will be presented at the Annual Conference to Members with 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35 and 40-plus years of membership/service with FCCMA; Award for Career Excellence; The Michael J. Roberto Award for Career Development; Assistant for Excellence in Leadership; Program Excellence Awards will be given in two categories: Community Partnership and Community Sustainability; and the Innovation in Communications and Technology Awards. A brochure will be mailed in early January to all FCCMA members. To apply for the awards, submit your application by March 6, 2008 by 5:00 p.m.

If you have any questions, please email Carol Russell at crussel@flcities.com or Lynn Lovallo at llovallo@flcities.com.

“City of Coral Springs: Journey to the Sterling and Malcolm Baldrige Awards”

The American Society for Quality Section 1515 is proud to bring ASQ members, The Government Sector and the general public a unique program featuring Ms. Susan Grant, Director of Human Resources for the City of Coral Springs. During her 16-year tenure in that position, the City has implemented a quality initiative that culminated in the City winning the 1997 Florida Governor’s Sterling Award for Organizational Excellence, becoming the first municipal government to win a state-sanctioned Malcolm Baldrige-based award.

In 2003, the City became the first repeat winner of the Sterling Award. As team leader for the City’s Baldrige application writing team, Ms. Grant guided the effort that lead to the City being awarded the Malcolm Baldrige Award in 2007, the first year the award was open to governments and non-profit organizations.

On January 22, 2009, Ms. Grant will present an overview of the strategy, tools and methods used by her team to attain the highest levels of Quality. In addition, Ms. Grant will share some of the lessons learned in the City of Coral Spring Journey and provide advice for those seeking to embark on their own pursuit of Excellence. This will be held from 3:30 – 4:30 p.m. at NCCI Holdings, Inc., 901 Peninsula Circle in Boca Raton.

In-person attendees should pre-register at www.asqpalmbeach.org and should arrive by 3:00 p.m. Webinar attendees should e-mail to emb109@aol.com with “Webinar” on the subject line for registration instructions. The cost is $15 for either the webinar or in-person attendees.

Request for Information

By way of introduction I am a retired Vietnam veteran who is writing a book about Vietnam War memorials across America. I am writing to request your assistance with information about any Vietnam War memorials in the Florida counties and or communities you support and live in.

I am interested in both specific Vietnam War memorials as well as multi-war or veterans memorials that include any inscription, dedication, or other tribute, to Vietnam veterans. The following are the Florida Vietnam War related memorials that I have some information on:

- Archer, High Springs, Melbourne, Crystal River, Lake City, Jacksonville, Pensacola, Apalachicola, Deland, Cape Coral, Fort Myers, Tallahassee, Bradenton, Orlando, Kissimmee, Tampa, Tarpon Springs, Bay Pines, Fort Meade, St Augustine, Perry, and Lake Butler.

If you have information on the above memorials or know of any additional Vietnam War related memorials in your area I would appreciate any information about the memorial and it's location you could provide. If there is anyone else you think may be able to provide information I would appreciate your forwarding this to them.

At present there is no complete or comprehensive reference book for Vietnam War memorials. My intent is to correct that with my book in hopes that once it is available many others will visit these memorials then now do.

You may contact L. Nick Hansen at 1630 Susan Road, Lake Ozark, MO 65049; or nick.hansen@US.ARMY.MIL.

Department of Defense USSERA Law Compliance Training

The Department of Defense civilian employment data indicates that city and county governments are heavily impacted by employee service in the National Guard and Reserve. The Department of Defense provides employers no cost information and training on compliance with the Uniformed Employment and Re-employment Rights Act (USERRA).

Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) is the Department of Defense Agency that has been chartered to provide USERRA information and training throughout the United States. We have a staff of over 1,000 trained USERRA Ombudsmen that can provide briefings to city and county personnel executives and supervisors of any size. In addition to our Ombudsmen training, a USERRA Supervisor Training DVD has been produced that provides answers to a variety of employer questions related to employee service in the National Guard and Reserve.

This USERRA Law compliance training is a true no cost benefit that has proven to be extremely effective to city and county governments with a large density of employees who serve in the National Guard and Reserve.

For more information, contact Tom Bullock, Chief, Employer Outreach, Department of Defense Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve at (703) 696-1386, ext. 537 or tom.bullock@osd.mil.
Ask A Coach

Below is the question for this month:

Earning Stripes

What “credentialing” type activities would you suggest to an individual who does not yet meet the criteria to be an ICMA Credentialed Manager, in hopes of soon becoming a local government manager?  Earning Stripes

Dear Earning Stripes,

Education should be an important component. Personally, I have a Ph.D. I have never regretted having the extra years of education even though my current field does not necessarily require it.  Oel Wingo

Even though a Manager is perceived to be a “generalist,” it never hurts to develop your own niche in local government. Whether it be economic development, growth management, budget and finance, technology or some other field, that niche can be your path into a great job. Subsequently, I would concentrate on activities that would develop that niche while affording you good networking opportunities.  Lee Feldman

Attending conference sessions and employee offered training opportunities are appropriate, but I think credentialing has short changed the basic need to continually "read" challenging and current literature from books and periodicals both professionally oriented and general literature on the humanities, technology, and science. Lifetime learning and its pursuit is far more important than simply checking off credentialing requirements.  Randy Reid

City Manager, Indian Rocks Beach, FL, (population 5,235). Incorporated in 1956, located west of Tampa on the Gulf of Mexico. Indian Rocks Beach is a small, attractive, beachfront city. The City is just over a half square mile and is 2.5 miles long. The City has 37 full-time staff members employed in the following in-house operations: city clerk; finance, accounting, and risk management; planning and development review; building permitting & inspections, code enforcement; sanitation and neighborhood recycling; parks maintenance; streets maintenance; and wastewater collection. The following services are provided under a contract, by a special district, or by Pinellas County government: Police services under an interlocal agreement with the Pinellas County Sheriff’s office; Fire services by the Pinellas Suncoast Fire and Rescue District; Potable water and reclaimed water provided by Pinellas County government; and Wastewater treatment and disposal performed under an interlocal agreement with Pinellas County government. The City has a FY 2009 Budget of approximately $6.1 Million; with a general fund budget of $3.0 Million, special revenue funds of .5 Million; and enterprise fund budgets totaling $2.6 Million. Most community improvement projects are funded by a combination of a 1-cent sales tax and gas surcharges levied in Pinellas County, totaling approximately $500,000 annually and used to leverage matching grant funds from a variety of State grant programs. The City’s Mission Statement is: “The City of Indian Rocks Beach strives to ensure a safe and brighter future for its residents by being responsive to the needs of its citizens, visitors, commerce, and natural environment, while securing the integrity and quality of life in our family oriented beach community.” Major challenges facing the community include: Maintaining and reinforcing the City’s “small town” mixed use and low density/intensity character; Competition for public resources given the financial burden placed on seasonal residents, businesses, and landlords by inordinately high property appraisals and insurance costs; and The long-term affordability of the community given recent extraordinary increases in property values, insurance, and taxes. The ability to maintain service levels in light of decreasing revenues. The ideal candidate will be highly trustworthy, possessing highly developed managerial/technical skills to assist the City’s small staff in successfully providing high quality service to City residents. A “hands-on” orientation is a must, as are the diplomatic skills necessary to have a continuing and meaningful dialogue with City residents and Commission Members about community standards and priorities. The incumbent is expected to be a “doer” as well as “administrator”. Membership in good standing in the International City/County Management Association (ICMA) is required at time of appointment. The incumbent is expected to be involved in the Florida City/County Management Association (FCCMA). Florida experience is preferred. City residency is not required; however, the incumbent will be required to live close enough to the City to respond to emergencies in a timely manner. The position requires a bachelor’s degree in public administration/urban management/public policy/business administration/related field, master’s degree preferred. Two to five year’s previous experience as a city manager in a council-manager form of government is also desired. The starting salary will be negotiable depending upon qualifications and track record. The previous city manager’s salary was $95,500. Applications must be received in the City of Indian Rocks Beach, Human Resources Department, 1507 Bay Palm Boulevard, Indian Rocks Beach, Florida 33785, by January 23, 2009. Resume and cover letter submittals are appreciated but will only be considered when submitted with a complete employment application available on our website or by calling (727)595-2517 for an application. Questions should be directed to Deanne O’Reilly, City Clerk, at 727/595-2517 or visit our website, www.indian-rocks-beach.com for further information.
