

October 2017

President's Message

One of FCCMA's priorities this year is to increase the amount and type of training offered. The Professional Development Committee has prepared training on a variety of subjects in different venues with a focus on low-cost and high value. This is particularly important for those of us from smaller cities with limited travel budgets and large training needs. Venues include two symposiums this year, twelve live and on-demand webinars and district training near you to minimize travel costs.

This year's Fall Symposium will be November 30, 2017 at the Lakeside Community Center in Port Orange. Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) systems will be the subject. To read more, click here.

Internships: A Hidden Asset in Your Community

By Jamie Titcomb, Town Manager Ocean Ridge

During my 20-plus years in public service positions, I've always been a passionate advocate for utilizing our best hidden asset we have right in our communities: our bright, motivated, earnest and energetic youth! They are all around us, in our high schools, colleges and vocational/technical programs. How many conference meetings have our discussions explored who will replace greying administrations, retain institutional knowledge and where do we find the talent to staff and lead new directions, ideas and delivery of quality local governance operations? To read more, click here.

Professional Management Matters

Information About Internships?

The Professional Management Matters (PMM) committee needs your help. We are researching internship opportunities throughout the state, which we can compile and communicate to the "next generation" through our local student chapters. Our goal is to bring talent to Florida and stimulate interest in the affairs of city/county management. Tell us about your internship opportunities! Are they offered annually? Every six months? Are they paid, or unpaid? Do you have a job description or scope? We would like to know! Please send all information or questions to mspoor@cityofsafetyharbor.com. ICMA Coaching Program Topics

The ICMA Coaching Program develops webinar topics through the ICMA State Association and Outreach Coaching Partners and their affiliates. ICMA begins with suggestions received and then invites the Partners to use an online survey in November to prioritize them, advise about scheduling issues, and recommend presenters. ICMA looks for a diversity of topics and presenters from across the U.S. and avoids duplication with recent offerings from the Coaching Program or offerings from other organizations. ICMA plans to have the final program for 2018 prepared before January 1 so that your members can incorporate the webinars in talent development planning for their agencies.

Below are the topics from 2017:

- * Attracting and Retaining a Dynamic Workforce
- * Being a Great Coach and a Winning Player
- * Best Practices in Citizen/Customer Service
- * Effective Communication of Complex Issues to Public
- * Strategies for Having Difficult Conversations
- * Tools to Resolve Tough Issues in Your Community

Please send your suggestions to Carol Russell at crussell@fcities.com.
